

Position Announcement
Staff Attorney, Pro Bono Programs
Homeless Persons Representation Project, Inc.
Baltimore, MD

Want to advocate to end homelessness? Want to eliminate barriers to employment? Want to assist veterans? If you desire a position where you have the opportunity to leverage the use of volunteers to increase legal services that prevent and end homelessness, the Homeless Persons Representation Project (HPRP) is seeking a full-time staff attorney for its Pro Bono Program.

Our Story: HPRP provides free legal services and advocacy to persons who are homeless or at risk of homelessness in Maryland. Encompassing all of HPRP's programs is the deep understanding that people who are homeless or at risk of homelessness struggle to access legal services offered in a traditional manner. The hallmark of HPRP's legal program is its ability to reach clients where they live, eat, and spend time. HPRP's staff and volunteers pursue this mission by offering legal services through outreach in shelters, soup kitchens, government offices, community centers and the street.

HPRP's Pro Bono Programs leverage the resources of HPRP's staff by recruiting, training, and mentoring volunteer attorneys, paralegals, and law students to conduct intakes and provide legal representation in criminal record expungement, veterans benefits, and military discharge upgrade matters. HPRP's Pro Bono Program is substantial, and it currently encompasses the work of over 400 volunteers. Particularly in these economic times, HPRP's Pro Bono Programs provide the person power to assist the increasing number of individuals seeking legal assistance to prevent homelessness, find housing, or remove barriers to employment.

HPRP operates pro bono supported Community-Based Intake Programs at Our Daily Bread Employment Center, The Franciscan Center, Baltimore VA Medical Center Annex, Chesapeake Health Education Program on the grounds of the Perry Point VA Medical Center in Cecil County, and the Three Oaks Center in St. Mary's County.
